Introduction

On June 13, 2025, Israel launched a preemptive operation against Iran's nuclear and ballistic missile program, triggering a rapid and dangerous escalation in online antisemitism. Within hours, social media platforms were flooded with hate content targeting Jews, resurfacing conspiracies, glorifying violence, and blurring facts through AI-generated disinformation.

This escalation did not occur in a vacuum. The Hamas-led massacre on October 7, 2023, triggered a 400% surge in online antisemitism. That wave never fully subsided - and the outbreak of conflict with Iran reignited it with fresh intensity. FOA's monitoring network responded immediately, activating our global volunteers to document and report, via our content monitoring dashboard, the rise in antisemitic content across platforms.

Monitoring Data

The data presented in this report reflects a sharp rise in antisemitic content following the outbreak of hostilities between Israel and Iran, beginning June 13, 2025, - ranging from classic antisemitism to incitement and fabricated content. There were also significant differences in content removal rates across platforms. While some platforms acted swiftly, others failed to respond adequately despite repeated flagging.

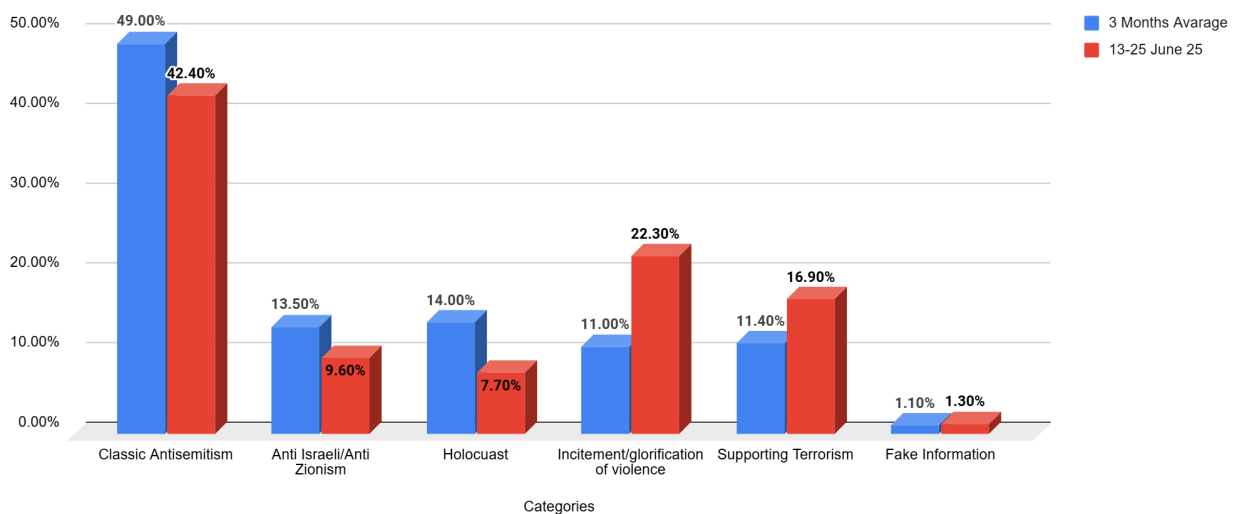

These findings highlight the renewed wave of online hate triggered by geopolitical events, and the urgency of real-time monitoring and coordinated reporting. This report outlines key trends and platform responses. FOA continues to call for stronger content moderation and platform accountability in the face of evolving antisemitic narratives.

Online antisemitism during the Iran-Israel conflict, June 13-24

Distribution by Content Category

During the 12-day war with Iran, FOA's monitoring revealed a significant shift in the nature of antisemitic and extremist content online. Classic antisemitism remained the dominant category (42.4%), though its share decreased compared to the three-month average (49%). In contrast, there was a sharp rise in incitement and glorification of violence, which more than doubled to 22.3%, reflecting the war's direct impact on the tone of content posted.

Comparison of Hate Speech Categories – June 13–25 vs. 3-Month Average

Support for terrorism saw a noticeable rise, reaching 16.9 percent compared to 11.4 percent in previous months. At the same time, Holocaust-related content declined to 7.7 percent, and anti-Israeli or anti-Zionist narratives dropped to 9.6 percent. Fake or misleading content remained low but increased slightly to 1.3 percent.

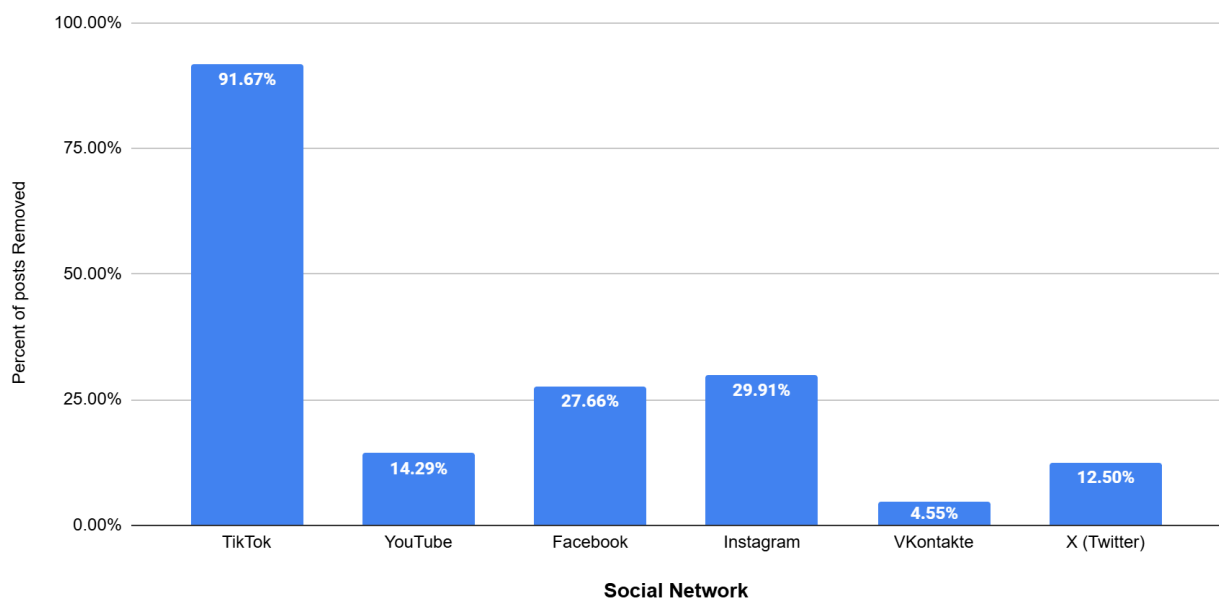

These shifts suggest that the war with Iran not only increased the volume of hate speech but also changed its tone. The focus moved away from traditional antisemitic themes and became more openly violent and aggressive. The decline flagged in anti-Israeli content may also reflect the FOA monitoring team's increased attention to direct incitement and violent rhetoric during this period.

Platform Response: Removed Content

While FOA flagged hundreds of posts during the war, removal rates varied widely across platforms. TikTok showed the highest responsiveness, removing 91.6 percent of the reported content, whereas platforms like YouTube (14.3 percent) and VKontakte (4.5 percent) removed far fewer flagged posts. These figures represent the average removal rate for each platform compared to their performance in previous monitoring periods. It's important to note that this data reflects a short review window, and actual removal rates may still increase over time, as some platforms take longer to act on reported content. This ongoing inconsistency highlights the continuing challenge of ensuring accountability across different social media networks.

Would you tune into BET for news on BLM riots?

Would you expect them to be unbiased?

Who owns 96% of the media?

If Jews, should you listen to the mainstream networks for coverage and opinions on the Israeli/Iran conflict?

Israel needs to be defeated, obliterated, bombed into total incapacity, invaded & dismantled just as bad as Nazi-Germany needed to be ASAP.

Any country taking any military action towards them should be loudly applauded & fully supported by anyone calling themselves a leftist.
